Subject Index

behavioral sciences in primary care 265–271
borderline patient profile 143–151
bothersome patients 95–104
brain-injured patients and psychotherapy 83–87
clinical cooperation, psychiatrist and rabbi 303–314
coherence, sense of 273–280
concentration camps
and group formation 41–50
and offspring of survivors of 201–209
and sexuality 211–231
counselling, an unorthodox approach 113–120
denial, and recovery of coronary patients 155–172
detection of psychiatric disorder 245–255
dissections 121–133
eclecticism in psychotherapy 51–60
ego functioning, levels of 201–209
empathy 29–39
evaluation in psychotherapy 21–27
existential games, and growth 71–80
family doctor, and bothersome patients 95–104
female students, and their parents 191–200
group formation in concentration camps 41–50
group psychotherapy with schizophrenics 185–190
high school students, and their parents 191–200 Holocaust survivors, sexuality of 211–220
individuation 61–69
journalists, and anxiety 315–324
labeling the mentally ill 221–231 life cycle and mental health 273–280
love 89–93
medical students'
stress at dissections 121–133
views on psychiatric issues 291–301
mourning in psychotherapy 105–112
offspring of concentration camp survivors 201–209
pathological infatuation 89–93
primary care
and behavioral sciences 265–271
and detection of psychiatric disorders 245–255
and psychiatric emergency service 135–141
physician and psychiatric epidemiologist in 257–264
practice in Israel and psychiatry 233–241
psychiatric emergency service 133–141 psychiatric hospitalization in Israel 173–183 psychiatric records, and mental illness 221–231
psychotherapy and brain-injured patients 83–87
rabbi and psychiatrist 303–314
schizophrenics in group psychotherapy 185–190
sexuality and the Holocaust survivor 211–220 stress and adaptation 121–133
suicide attempts 281–289
supervision in psychotherapy 21–27
taxonomy of neurosis 245–255
Tel Aviv University, psychotherapy department 13–20
will, the issue of 7–11

israel journal of psychiatry and related sciences

Volume 22, 1985

Published for the Israel Psychiatric Association by Israel Science Publishers Ltd.

Table of Contents

Antonovsky A. The life cycle, mental health and the sense of coherence. p 273
Antonovsky H. See Maoz B
Avraham-Shiloh, L. See Maoz B
Bar-On D. Different types of denial account for short and long term recovery of coronary patients. p 155
Berman E. Eclecticism and its discontents. p 51
Brull F. On the issue of will. p 7
Burns BJ. See Locke BZ
Calev A. See Yehoshua R
Dasberg H. See Yehoshua R
David IC. See Levav I
Davidson LJ. See Goldman NS
Davidson S. Group formation and its significance in the Nazi concentration camps. p 41
Davidson S. See Levy A Doron A. See Levav I
Dufour YR, Dufour-Gompers N. Journalists, anxiety and media as an intra-psychic screen. p 315
Dufour-Gompers N. See Dufour Y
Durst N. See Maoz B
Edelstein EL. Editorial statement. p 153
Elizur A. An integrated-development model of empathy. p 29
Elizur A. See Levy A
Ellencweig AY. Urban patterns of psychiatric hospitalization in Israel. p 173
Feuchtwanger D. Creative inter-personal experience of mourning in psycho-therapy. p 105 Fisch RZ. Attempted suicide—failed suicide or parasuicide? Diagnostic and therapeutic considerations. p 281
Gaoni B, Shreibaum D. Love as fierce as death. p 89
Gofer A. See Goren Y
Goldberg D. The detection of psychiatric disorder in primary care settings: implications for the taxonomy of neurosis. p 245
Goldman NS, Davidson LJ. The psychiatrist and the rabbi: toward a model of clinical cooperation. p 303
Goren Y. Franz Brull—in memoriam. p 3
Goren Y, Kretch R, Gofer A, Wasserman A. A profile of the borderline patient. p 143
Granek M. Counselling at the Midrasha: an unorthodox approach in a boundaryless institution. p 113
Kellermann PF. See Yehoshua R
Kretch R. See Goren Y
Landau E. Existential games in human growth. p 71
Levav I, David IC, Doron A, Naot Y, Mansur A, Sinai T. Medical students and their views on psychiatric issues. p 291
Levy A, Davidson S, Elizur A. Psychiatric emergency service—its role in primary care. p 135

Locke BZ, Burns BJ. The primary care physician and the psychiatric epidemiologist: a symbiotic service research partnership. p 257
Mansur A. See Levav I
Maoz B, Antonovsky H, Ziv P, Avraham-Shiloh L, Durst N. The family doctor and his 'nudnik (bothersome) patients': an exploratory study. p 95
Maoz B, Stern J. Editorial: psychiatry and primary care practice in Israel and other countries. p 233
Meijer A. Female high school students' assessment of their parents. p 191 Naot Y. See Levav I
Nathan H. See Shalev A
Rahav M. Labeling the mentally ill through psychiatric records: the Israeli case. p 221
Roden RG. Sexuality and the holocaust survivor. p 211
Rosenberg EH. Thoughts on supervision and evaluation in the Department of Psychotherapy, Tel Aviv University Medical School. p 21
Shalev A, Nathan H. Medical students' stress reactions to dissection. p 121 Shalev S. Individuation as freedom. p 61
Shreibaum D. See Gaoni B
Sinai T. See Levav I
Stern J. See Maoz B
Stern JM. The psychotherapeutic process with brain-injured patients: a dynamic approach. p 83
Szalita AB. Introductory address – presented at the opening of the Department of Psychotherapy, Tel Aviv University. p 13
Wasserman A. See Goren Y
Yehoshua R, Kellermann PF, Calev A, Dasberg H. Group psychotherapy with inpatient chronic schizophrenics. p 185
Yodfat Y. The application of behavioral sciences in primary care. p 265
Ziv P. See Maoz B
Zlotogorski Z. Offspring of concentration camp survivors: a study of levels of ego functioning. p 201